Behind the Mask

Halloween is rapidly approaching as the temperature drops, leaves begin to fall, and endless thoughts of sugar and candy flood the minds of young children (and adults). This special day also holds a unique tradition where it is common, if not expected, for participants young and old to put on a costume and a mask while they pretend to be something that they really are not. Practices such as this can be fun and entertaining as we enjoy seeing disguises that are frightening and sometimes laughable; however, what happens when this practice mimics our relationship with God?

Jesus often accused the Pharisees of outwardly pretending to be followers of God, while inwardly they were corrupt. When comparing them to white-washed tombs, Jesus offered a firm warning to the Pharisees saying that they "appear righteous to men, but inwardly...are full of hypocrisy and lawlessness" (Mt. 23:28). Earlier, Jesus warned His disciples against giving, praying, and fasting simply to be seen by other people (Mt. 6:2, 5, 16). In each of these instances, if the motivation of the disciple derived solely from impressing others, Jesus told them plainly "they have their reward in full."

Our motives can reveal the condition of our hearts. If we worship the Father, serve our neighbors, or perform any good work simply to be noticed by other people, then we too have our reward in full. When God is no longer our audience, we may also appear righteous to men but inwardly be full of hypocrisy and lawlessness. While Halloween is a day where we can pretend to be something that we really are not, God does not want followers who are simply pretending. Let us ensure we are not wearing a mask to look like a Christian, but rather, let us allow our hearts to reveal our true identity.

-Josh Taylor

In the Spotlight

We welcome Caleb Boggs to our Estes family! Caleb is an FHU Bible major from Neosho, MO. In his spare time he enjoys reading and spending time with friends.

FAMILY CAMP IS THIS WEEKEND! CHICKASAW'S LAKE LAJOIE GROUP CAMP

The weekend begins with registration and check-in from 5:00-6:30 pm on Friday. Our spaghetti supper is at 6:30 pm.

- If you are 18 or under your cost is $5. If you are over 18 your cost is $10. Pay when you get there.
- You are welcome to come and go or stay the entire time!
- If you signed up to stay in a cabin, you will need to bring your own bedding, and bath/toiletry supplies. The cabins are not heated or cooled.
- Don't forget your Bible!
- The mess hall is an electronics-free zone! It is also a pet-free zone.
- Everyone should pitch in to set up and clean up before and after meals. There's a list to sign up for a specific time so look for that when you arrive.
- Every family needs to bring the following food along with the specific food you signed up to bring (singles can band together and split the list): Hot dogs and buns, 1 large bag of chips, 2 (2 liter) drinks, breakfast foods to share for Sunday, snacks to share.

Come out and enjoy this time to spend with your Estes family.
